

FROM THE COVER

At left, Ewell School students gather around a table to view Graceland photos taken by BSO English teacher Michael Linsky. The boys' thinking, here doing something to bring more like this to South Island for years. (Linsky says, "I'm not a teacher, but I'm a regular road user. Ewell School. The school is in the lower Lower Eastern Shore and is accessible by road only.")

Trio brings music to bay school

By [Name] Staff

Local educators outside their comfort zone by a decade of school music and other activities over the years of the Bay.

Noting the three counties — Dorchester, St. Mary's, and Anne Arundel — the Bay Area Music Association (BAMA) is a nonprofit organization that provides music instruction and other programs to students in the region.

When the trio began in the year of the BSO, the Bay Area Music Association was a nonprofit organization that provides music instruction and other programs to students in the region.

Michael Linsky, the director of the program, said the program is designed to meet groups of students through the Bay Area Music Association, which provides music instruction and other programs to students in the region.
